Bumper Crops in Germany. Germany, according to a German agent in New York, convey an official statement just issued by the German Agricultural Council, a semiofficial body showing that the crops have turned out better than the average yield, and that the country will be able o feed iself for a year. In the same manner as Germany made military preparations said the agent, it carefully considered the question of feeding its army, navy, and people at home during a possible war. Proof of this is the German export of grain in recent years, Germany in 1913 produced almost 12,500,000 tons of rye and 4,666,000 tons of wheat. It was able to export a million more tons of rye than it imported, yhile the import of wheat exceeded the exports by 2,000,000 tons.

Taking these two kinds of breadstuff together, the home supply lacked less than a million tons of meeting the requirements of home consumption. This shortness, at the present time, is being made up by feeding cattle with oats in place of the usual mixture of rye and oats. Although Germany's crop this season was heavy it has been gathered during the past two months as expeditiously as in times of peace. This work was effectively aided by the action of the students of universities, scholars of the lower schools and women from the industrial cen-

The Cyprian Honey Bee.

The Cprian bees, so called because their natural home is in the Island of Cyprus, closely resembles the Italian variety. It would be better to say that the Italian resembles the Cyprian, as the former are descendants of the latter. The Cyprians are said to be an offspring of the Syrian or Holy Land bees. This assumption is made from the fcat that human migrations were always to the westward and that the bess were probably carried along, forming new varieties on acount of the changes caused by new environment.

While the Cyprian and Italian bees are alike in many respects, they can be easily recognized as different varieties. The former is smaller and the under side of the body is yellow rax. MINERS MAKE MOVE AGAINST STRIPPING

Gov. Ralston Will be Asked To Urge Immediate Legislative Action.

Boonville, Ind., Nov. 28 .- An agitation has been begun here to endeavor by means of legislation at the coming session of the Indiana Legislature to prevent the mining of coal by stripping. The new process has thrown 700 men out of employment here and these men have joined hands with the local business men to appear before the coming Legislature for relief. Philip Lutz, Jr. representative-elect from Warrick county has promised to introduce a bill to stop stripping.

It is understood that stripping has been prohibited by statutes in some of the States as being against public policy and community welfare. Hundreds of acres of the best farming land in Warrick county are being destroyed and it is argued that this land will not be fit for culti- ing helped me until during one of vation or any other use, and will be those sick spells a friend advised forever destroyed as a substantial me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. source for taxation.

can do the work formerly done by 100, and it is said that while the Government is spending hundreds of dollars in reclamation work in the West. the attention of the state should be called to the destrucion of naural resources in Indiana. With a supply of coal lasting hundreds of years and with the value of coal increasing daily, it is urged that I Warrick county can well afford to keep her coal and not have her agricultural lands destroyd.

United States Senator John Kern, who has been interested in the matter here, says that he believes the matter can be reached by a state law under the police power of the States, and asks that Gov. Ralston be informed and ask to suggest a remedy in the message to the Legislature so as to command the instantaneous attention of the Legislature.

> Dangerous Wounds Made by Schrapnel Shelle.

Berlin, Nov. 16 .- The German surgeons have begun to talk about their experience in healing the wounded in this war. Prof. Payr, of Leipsic University, who is acting as Surgeon-General to the Saxon army, recently delivered an address at one of the improvisioned hospitals on the line of the German communications, in which he gave much interesting information on the subject.

Payr pointed out that the balls used in schrapnel shells produce much more dangerous wounds than rifle bullets. They carry into the wound fragments of clothing, a corresponding quantity of dangerous germs and they are much more likely to be lodged in the body. There was suppuration in 70 to 75 per cent. of cases. The same danger is still more serious with wounds from fragments of shells. It was found too, that this war has been especially marked by the great number of such wounds. Not only do shell fragments carry m into the body with bits of clothing, but the dangerous gases from the shrapnel explosion often adhere to the fragments and balls in sufficient quantities to poison the wound. Lockjaw is often procured by wounds of this character, but by vaccinating patients with a tetanus serum by the German surgeons have materially reduced the ratio of deaths in such cases since the first weeks

- Carrier One Experience Convinced Me of its Value

"One of our salesmen demonstrated the value of the Long Distance Telephone to us. He was at Huntsville. Ala., and upon his own responsibility put in Long Distance calls for fifteen merchants within a radius of several hundred miles.

"In less than one hour he had sold 2100 barrels of flour at a total cost to us of less than six dollars.

"Since then we have applied the Long Distance Bell Telephone to every feature of our business with most profitable results. The service is fine, the rates are reasonable and there is more satisfaction in one Long Distance Telephone talk than in half a dozen letters".
